Invited Out? Have You the Clothes?

You must have them. If in a hurry, so much the better for us. We fit men in a hurry. And such good clothes. Ready for the social whirl, the theatre, the club, the lodge. Full dress for complete formality, dinner suits for the family circle and stage doings. Lined with rich silk and in the height of style. Only master tailors should ever touch cloth for full dress clothes. Ours are made by the STEIN-BLOCH SMART TAILORS, who have been making them for 50 years so that they fit smooth, show a more striking style and a clearer knowledge of the fine points of clothes-building than the work of any other needlemen in the world, barring a few crack custom shops of New York and London.

BASEBALL THE TALK

Sunday Ball Agitation Comes to the Front.

Baseball is now in the preliminary stages of sporting talk. It is believed that the first games will be played on May 26. So far little or nothing is known of the number of teams to constitute the league. The Elks have not yet made up their minds as to whether they will enter a team or not. The Mallees have not made up their minds as to whether a purely local team will be entered or whether the U. S. Marine team will be used again under the name of Maile.

Then there is talk of going before the Legislature and asking that Sunday baseball be permitted. This may not affect the league teams, but it will give the men who work in the foundries, stores and on the public works a full opportunity to have a little recreation on that day, baseball playing being practically denied them on week days.

The suggestion has been made that the baseball league would do better to have one game only played on Saturday afternoon and another on Sunday afternoon, thereby insuring greater receipts and perhaps greater enthusiasm.

Whether this could be carried out is a question. Many of the league players are opposed to league teams playing on Sunday. It is believed that the Punahous are not in favor of such a course, and some trustees are on record against Sunday ball.

final determination in the matter. Mr. Peck went at some length into the difficulties of the project, and told how much money had already been spent for labor and material.

W. O. Smith spoke in favor of granting the waiver of the forfeiture clause asked for by the railroad people.

Carl Smith wanted to know whether the projectors wanted the government to enter into a new contract, or just exactly what was wanted. He knew that the people of Hilo were vitally interested in the construction of this road by somebody. He would not favor taking snap judgment, but if these people could not build the road, then other parties should be given a chance.

W. O. Smith said that more time was wanted.

"How much?" asked Governor Carter.

"Two years," replied Peck. "I know that if I cannot finance this road in a year, I cannot do it at all."

"What we want," said Attorney Lewis, "is an assurance from the Superintendent of Public Works that the government will not exercise its right of forfeiture under the franchise."

"Do you expect the government to give you a written assurance," asked Carl Smith.

"Yes," said Carl Smith. "I think the government is entitled to a more explicit statement of what Mr. Peck has to go upon in the way of financial backing. If he is asking for an extension merely upon the chance that he can raise the money to build the road then I think the franchise should be forfeited and somebody else given a chance."

"New people would not have the money shoved at them any quicker than we would," said Mr. Peck.

C. M. Cooke did not think that the request of Mr. Peck was unreasonable. If he could give any assurance that he could finish the road, even as far as Hakalau, in two years, then he should be given the extension asked for.

"You think he should have three or four months to find out whether he can raise the money?" asked Governor Carter.

"I do," replied Mr. Cooke.

L. A. Thurston then arose and gave an interesting statement of the history of the Hilo railroad situation, going back to the first charter of the Hilo railway. He told how, in interest with Mr. Dillingham, he had procured a charter covering the very country to be served by the Kohala-Hilo line, and how, upon the statement of the Governor that they had the money to build that particular road at once, the Dillingham people, not having the money and not desiring to stand in the way of progress, had withdrawn their protest against the granting of the Kohala-Hilo franchise, theretofore successfully maintained.

The Hilo road had been built to Puna, had acquired wharves and expended money in improvements at Hilo during the six years that the Kohala-Hilo project had lain in abeyance, and had been at all times friendly to that project, notwithstanding the suspicion with which it was regarded and the hostility of the Kohala-Hilo people toward it. It was to the interest of the Hilo road to have the other road built, because that would build up Hilo.

"I regard the building of the Hilo-Kohala road as vital to Hilo," said Mr. Thurston. "The people need it. And if Mr. Peck will assure us here that anybody will furnish him the backing to build the road within the next sixty days, then I say by all means give him the extension asked for. And give it to him under a franchise that is workable. I do not believe that any power on earth could complete this project in the time specified in the franchise."

"You are correct," broke in Mr. Peck. "The Hilo railroad isn't anxious to put any stumbling block in anybody's way," went on Mr. Thurston. "But the Hilo road is willing to go ahead, if there is no other franchise in the way, and put a railroad through the Hamakua district. And the Hilo railroad is in a position to do this, having an established base to work from and not starting as a project de novo."

"Does the Hilo franchise cover this territory?" asked Governor Carter.

"It does," replied Mr. Thurston.

"It will require no action by the legislature or by Congress?"

"None,"

"There is no time limit!" interjected Mr. Peck.

"None," said Mr. Thurston. "The only limitation is that it is provided in the franchise that after any section has been surveyed and the survey accepted, it must be finished within five years."

It developed on further discussion that the Kohala-Hilo road had issued no bonds. Mr. Peck having paid all the bills himself, and then Governor Carter said he wanted legal light on the matter.

Attorney-General Andrews had never seen the franchise of the Hilo-Kohala road before the hearing began, and was not prepared to commit himself upon first reading. It was a question, in his mind, if the Superintendent of Public Works would consent to a waiver of the forfeiture clause, whether any citizen might not have the power to go into court and compel its enforcement.

Governor Carter expressed the idea that a deadlock had been reached, inasmuch as the Kohala-Hilo people could not ask for money under an extension were secured, and capital would not look at the project until an assurance from the Superintendent of Public Works that the forfeiture clause would be waived if money were raised to build the road would be enough to appeal to capitalists with, and that suited Mr. Peck.

The discussion turned upon the legal aspect of the case, and upon the statement of the Attorney-General that he wanted some time to look into the matter, the meeting broke up with the understanding that Mr. Peck would be given until August 1st to finance the road if he could. If he does that, and gets enough money to build to Onomesa in two years and to Hakalau in three, the franchise will be extended if it can be legally done. If it cannot, the time for building the road will expire in April, that is, after April the Superintendent of Public Works can give notice that the franchise is terminated.

NOTES FROM THE DISTRICT OF KAU

The Kau Weekly of February 11, has the following items:

The growth of sisal at Pahala is improving and growing in fine shape.

There is a good deal of land around Naelehu which, while not good for anything else, would do well in sisal. The entire coast line might be made productive if planted in sisal.

The long dry spell seems to have been broken.

The leaf hopper pest seems to be disappearing in the district. Now is the time to plant.

Judge Lindsay has been around shaking hands with old acquaintances and visiting the scenes of his earlier days.

Mr. Irish of Waiohimo has been appointed school agent for the Kau schools.

It is rumored that Dr. Thompson, government physician in this end of the district, has resigned his position and will occupy Senator Hewitt's cottage at Waiohimo, taking care of the Senator's law practice.
